Calmo. A sofa concept designed with customization in mind

February 2019

In a world driven by the desire for personalisation, Calmo offers all kinds of enticing options to customise a living space.

It's a new sofa series we've developed with clean lines and discrete curves. Available in an array of sizes, intrinsic to the Calmo concept is the choice of a chaise longue to incorporate at either end. A comfy chair or ottoman or both for a more expansive sofa setting. All kinds of elements and components that you can easily configure together to create a cosy atmosphere that's contemporary yet timeless.

Add to that a wide variety of textiles, along with the option of solid wood or steel legs, and you have an incredible amount of freedom to mix or match any number of projects for any type of private residence.

Signature details include the gentle, graceful curve of the inside of the arm rests. Look closer and you'll see a subtle, discrete seam that swerves from the inside to the outside of the arm rest ending at the back of the sofa. The continuous arm stitching that flows like a stream from the curvy inside of the arm, making its way to the outside and finally turning around and ending at the back of the sofa. Details intuitively designed to virtually disappear.

Of course, it wouldn't be a Fredericia sofa without our immaculate craftsmanship. It's everywhere you look, from the construction of Calmo to the details, exclusive materials and promise of lasting comfort.

Calmo is more than a sofa. It's a contemporary take on living driven by the desire to design your own idea of a home. Elegant, unassuming and exquisitely crafted. By designer Hugo Passos.

"I see this collection as a contemporary update of Børge Mogensen's ethos - to produce functional, long lasting furniture for everyday life. I am very happy that we have created a relaxed, strong yet elegant sofa family that I hope people enjoy."

- Hugo Passos

The Calmo series is available from August 2019.
